Warren Has Ambulances And . . . Ambulances

The Warren borough council learned Monday that Warren is to have ambulances. Keith Nulph, of 109 Market st., told council he will place two modern ambulances in service today.

Robert Mahan of the North Warren volunteer fire department also told council that his organization has bought the Templeton ambulance and made eleven calls the first eight days. He said that a call to the hospital would result in a call to the driver on call, who in turn would call his assistant. Drivers on call do not fight fires.

Mr. Mahan asked what was going to happen to this service if other ambulances were used in Warren. President Laskaris explained that there are no rules or restrictions on individuals who want to go into the ambulance business.

The ambulance committee said it would plan an ordinance that would govern ambulance service in the borough. This would involve a license but not a franchise. Chairman Miller said he hoped to have it ready for the next meeting.

Solicitor Harper explained that the state borough code does not specify that a borough can regulate ambulance service, but that a borough does have a right to protect the welfare of its residents. Under this right it probably could establish ambulance controls.

Councilman Carbon asked the public service committee if it had a report to make on its study of the gas rate increase. Chairman Miller said a meeting had been held with a gas company official and that Councilman Juliano had gone to Erie where he obtained a copy of the Erie resolution. He said the Erie plan called for $1,000 from participating opponents of the increase and he did not believe he should ask the council for this amount.

He said that he previously had favored writing a letter of protest against the rate increase but his two committee members had opposed it. Councilman Juliano denied this, saying that he and Councilman Hetem had suggested they learn what Erie was doing.

Councilman Miller said that he felt he represented the people and that inasmuch as not one person had approached him concerning the proposed gas rates he had not made a report.

Councilman Carbon said he thought a committee had a job to do no matter what people said or didn't say and that a report always was due. He said that such a report was all that he had asked for.

Council resolved to erect a traffic light at East and Pennsylvania, subject to approval by the state. It also gave the Warren Water Company a right of way, twenty feet wide, from the site of its new storage tank on Tanner Hill to the Liberty st. water line. And Councilman Yagge reported that the new airport manager has moved in and that matching funds for airport repair, for which Warren industry is providing half the money, will be placed on the budget agenda.

Council voted to ask for bids on a new scale. The old scale is too small for most modern trucks and is not earning any money or doing a job for the borough. A new scale will be 50 feet long and will handle 102,000 pounds. It will cost about $6,000. With it the police will be able to enforce over-loading laws, the penalties for which are very large today. The fines probably will average better than $500 a year, plus the usual fees for routine weighing.

Council renamed several board and commission members, including Donald Kinander for five years

HOT. This shot was taken by Garney Pedersen shortly after the Friday morning fire popped the lid of a run-off tank at the United Refinery. Firemen from Warren, Clarendon, and Youngsville, with the cooperation of refinery employees, had it snuffed out in about two hours.

on the planning commission, J. P. Wendell for five years on the recreation board, and Elmer T. Lundahl, five years on the parking authority.

Merritt Babcock was approved as a probationary hoseman and Wayne G. Hanson as a provisional hoseman in the fire department. Permission for the erection of a sign at Union and Pennsylvania was given to Ernest Blair, Margaret Blair, and the Texas Co. This will serve the new Texaco station.

Manager Geracimos reported that the paving projects are about 99 percent completed, and the sealing work about 85 per cent done.

He said the state is asking property owners along Indian and Glade runs to provide a list of property damage covering the last twenty years. It is figured this will provide large enough a sum to impress those who control purse strings on flood control funds.

NO HITS, NO RUNS, and the Yankees even it up. Here is Don Larsen as seen in Warren homes in the midst of one of his zero, zero pitches.

DRAGONS SPIT FIRE

Coach Fred Bell's Warren Dragons roared in fierce style for the 1926 Homecoming at War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon and whipped the Meadville Bulldogs 39 to 6.

It happened fast in the initial period as Jack Suppa pulled in the opening Meadville kickoff and raced 85 yards for the score. Bob Hartnett coddled his arm and tossed to Ron Sacken for the PAT.

The second of a trio of first quarter TD's occurred after Warren fell on a Meadville fumble at mid-field and moments later Suppa again took the pigskin and chopped off 35 yards for six points.

Late in the period Hartnett intercepted a Bulldog pass on his own 23 yard line to stop a Meadville drive. He then chalked up a 45 yard run on a right end skirt that set the oval on the 13. Dave Swanson pushed to the five, from where Mascaro took charge and cracked right tackle. The sophomore back also played for the PAT and the score read 20-0.

The second frame saw no score, but action picked up in the third with two more Blue and White scores. End John Powley was hit by Hartnett on a 45-yard pass play that put Warren on the opposition's two. A fumble cost Warren two yards. Mascaro carried it back three and Swanson slipped around end to tally.

A couple of pass plays with Mascaro throwing to Jim Mohnkern and Hartnett for 30 and 35 yards respectively set the Dragons up for another score on the five-yard stripe. Powley shifted into the backfield and hit right end for two marks, Swanson plunged to the one, and Mascaro smashed right guard to make it 32-0.

Paced by big Joe Boyersmith, Meadville started a 60 yard drive late in the third quarter. It came to a climax when quarterback Mike Vitale scooted five yards for the visitors lone touchdown.

Warren wrapped it up in the closing moments. With plenty of security tucked away and a fourth down decision coming up on the W-30, John Berdine went back to punt, but instead pulled back and fired to Powley on the 30. The big end, making a sensational catch, hurried down field to score. It was Mascaro to Powley for the extra point and the final score, 39 to 6.

The game concluded Section Two play for Warren and was the third victory in five starts. Friday night the Dragons enter the final lap of play at Bradford.

KNIGHTS GALLOP ON

The hard charging Knights of Northern Area extended their string to 4-0 Saturday by whipping Randolph, N. Y., 45-13, in a Northwestern conference tilt.

The 1955 co-champions splurged with three scores in the opening period. First it was Merle Wightman taking a Jim Darts' aerial for 21 yards into pay dirt. Then Bud Rowland scored 31 yards. And left end and Darts wound the quarter up with a 50-yard excursion around end.

A pair of airline plays accounted for the second stanza pointmaking. It was Darts to Bob McCoy for 30 yards and Lefty Olson to Wightman for 40 yards.

Randolph came back after the half to register its only tally when Roy Millspaw grabbed a toss from Lou Matthews and carried 19 yards.

Olson, Knight signal caller, ripped around end for a TD in the third and Rowland wound it up for the winners by hitting off tackle on a pitch-out play that covered 28 measures.

Coach Norge Luvison's eleven continues league play by entertaining Brockton, N. Y., at Sugar Grove Saturday afternoon.

Warren and Meadville provided the only Section Two conference action last week, with the home team emerging a 39-6 victor. The standings are now Corry 3-0, Titusville 2-0, Warren 3-2, Meadville 1-1, Franklin 0-3, and Oil City 0-3.

GAMES OF INTEREST

The Warren Dragons are the only county boys to figure in a Friday night game this week end, Bradford being the host club. On Saturday Sheffield will entertain Otto Township, Youngsville has Port Allegany at home, and Northern Area plays host to Brockton, N. Y.

Out in Section Two, Titusville journeys to Corry and Oil City goes to Meadville. Franklin will receive a visit from Grove City in non-league play.

SHEFFIELD TAKES RIVAL

Sheffield high Wolverines cracked a three-game losing streak Saturday by defeating their old county rivals, the Youngsville Eagles, by a score of 32 to 27.

Coach Ralph Santo's eleven constructed a cozy margin during first half play in the shape of a 20-7 score. Bill Johnson moved 65 yards to pay dirt for the lone first quarter score to make it 6-0.

The Eagles came back in the game at the opening of the second frame when Dinny fired 20 yards to Schenck for a score and then passed to Brenneman for the EP. But before the mid-way mark arrived McNeal skirted the end for 20 yards and Rossetti pulled a quarterback sneak from the one. Exley and McNeal plunged for the two points after touchdown.

Youngsville opened up the air-ways again in the third with a Dinny to McCanna TD pass. Then near the end of the quarter Johnson carried for 15 yards and a score to make it 26-13.

There was plenty of action in the final period. A Youngsville tally came first on a pass from Dinny to Schenck and then Rossetti did it for the Orange and Black by hitting Andrews. In the closing minutes Fehlman ran the final Eagle score with Dinny passing to Brenneman for the PAT.

BOOMER! Another score is shaping up as Lou Mascaro finds clear ground ahead and digs for the pay stripe.

MISSED. Swanson evades a Meadville tackler and Warren has another td.

BIG DAY. Meadville saw much of this number, from the rear. This is Jack Suppa on one of several fine runs which paid off against Meadville. He is in the clear and No. 39 scores again.

AND THE TRAIN goes through the middle of the house formed by the Warren high Dragon Band at War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon. The very cleverly created choo-choo was built by Scott Mohr and Jay Benze.

TE LA DI O

THEY COUNTED THEM?

Warren county has 8,340 television sets. Or so says the Advertising Research Foundation which made a survey to learn the facts. This is 67 per cent of the homes, says the Foundation. The survey was financed by the networks and trade associations.

DAY OF REST?

Last Sunday morning we took a step which hasn't occurred to us since the first day we owned a tv set. Feeling the need for entertainment of a nature that would fit the Sunday morning quiet, we snapped the switch.

Wham! Two high-hatted gents melted behind their respective trees and lead picked bark off everything but their shins. The exchange of loud blanks shook us a bit and we angrily turned to another network.

There was a partially clothed damsel stretched on the rack. She evidently was in great pain because the shrieks were rippling the canals and the gondolas were floating on tears, tears shed by the slaves of Venice.

Now there are times during the week when we might have enjoyed seeing this babe get the works, but our moments of vicarious fiendishness are not inclined to stretch into the Sabbath A. M.

So we knocked it off and were rewarded by an old lady who wanted to stay in bed on Sunday while the family matched wardrobes with the Jones' in church. This got complicated, and grandmother finally had to climb out from under the electric blanket to keep granddaughter from taking a course that might have been even hotter.

We learned we had to sashay the dial throughout the morning to keep the atmosphere tender and inspiring, at least to a semi degree. It took all the relaxed pleasure out of the morning, disposed our disposition, and convinced us to either sleep in or in church next week.

OPPOSED BUT READY

Besides good television reception we get a bang out of RCA. It is one of those on record as opposed to subscription tv. But it has a patented subscription coin system that selects three programs and is ready for use if it has to find customers. The patent was approved this summer. So now, if enough demand is made for subscription tv, RCA probably will not be half so opposed. It has something new to sell. Ah, free enterprise!

GROWING, GROWING

Sets with built-in uhf are being sold in large quantities in the Buffalo area now that NBC is heard only on Channel 17 uhf. Twenty-seven distributors report that they sold 3,090 sets with uhf in June. (That's an average of over 100 sets each and sounds more lush than peddling papers.)

They also sold 236 converters. Sets with only vhf numbered 761.

This pushed the area vhf sets up to 453,871, and the combination sets to 94,213. Sets with uhf converters number 42,830. Which adds up to 137,043 sets capable of seeing uhf. And that is what interests sponsors. VHF with 548,084 sets that can see its programs still claims the major share of advertising dollars.

DIAL SPINNERS

WBEN Radio will continue its high school forum program this year with thirty-six weeks of paneling. The first of the season will be heard Saturday at 9:30 with four Kensington high school students discussing What Is School Spirit?

WEE WILLIE Davis, a villain in wrestling circles, is studying flowers in the Buffalo library. It is spade work for his $64,000 Question appearance, where he has posies for his subject. Or did have if he didn't get eliminated. Show them your ear, Willie. Is that what you'd cauliflower?

PREPARE TO DUCK, pull in your roof top, and man the storm cellar. Godfrey is coming to Buffalo, October 19, and he is doing it by plane. That also is his subject for the day. He will talk to the Buffalo Aero Club Inc. His subject won't be television or why he fired a hand. It will be aviation, and if he gets too lofty he is in the right place, the Buffalo Trap and Field Club. They can shoot him down.

IMOGENE COCA will not be on the Sunday Ed Sullivan show. She has been replaced by a Japanese aerialist and a monkey performer. Takeo Usui and Jinx. Jinx is the monkey. This could get confusing. It will originate in Detroit where the Henry and Edsel Ford auditorium presentation ceremonies will be featured in the River Front Civic Center.

THE COUNT on Do You Trust Your Wife is 154 out of 274 male participants who would let their wives decide their fortunes in the weekly contest. And the other 120 probably didn't have any choice if they wanted to eat that week.

LAKE DRAINING

Chapman dam is one of the lakes on the list for partial draining to improve bathing and fishing facilities. In Warren county it is hoped that bathing is included in the case of the Chapman area.

Swimming beaches will be leveled so that the average depth is five feet and there are no drop-offs. Crushed stone will be used and protection against erosion will be provided.

Use of the public parks is being expanded to meet the demand. With over ten million visitors already counted for 1956, the fall season should see the total top the 11-1/2 million of 1955, which was a record.

COMING UP

Grouse, turkey, and squirrel will be legal meat on your table in about a week. The seasons for these delectables open October 20. All hunting hours are based on eastern standard time. The three birds mentioned can be shot starting at 7 a. m. There is one exception, which is October 27, when small game can not be fired on before 9 a. m. That is the morning when you can start adding rabbits and ringnecks to your bag.

THE SUPPLY

Speaking of birds, about 264,000 of them have been liberated in the state this year. Of these, 52,000 were pheasants, in a ratio of about one male to ten hens, released in the spring. This month 22,000 cocks and 9,000 hens will be released, and in November 12,000 cocks will be added to the supply.

The number of quail released in the spring was 6,000. Another 2,500 will be let loose this fall.

As for turkeys, about 3,000 were turned loose in the spring, at the ratio of one gobbler to five hens. This week another 3,000 toms will see the woods.

And if you are looking for ducks, Pennsylvania released 7,500 mallards and 110 Canada geese, all banded. The Commission would like to hear about it if you knock one down with a banded leg.

AT THE OTHER END

At the opposite end of the gun barrel will be a horde of eyes looking for these many targets to fill with shot, ball, and slugs. In 1955 the total number of hunters to trod the Pennsylvania fields and hills was about 931,013. And you can add to that number those who hunt on their own property without licenses.

Of these, 32,471 were from other states. Free licenses were given to 766 disabled resident war veterans.

AND TO WATCH BOTH

Practical experience in field work will send twenty student officers into the woodlands during the hunting season. They are attending the Game Commission school and each will be assigned to an experienced game protector for guidance.

These twenty have been going to school since June 30, previous to which all of them enjoyed much experience as deputy protectors. They will return to the school in 1957 and will be graduated in the spring.

Revised Architect Reports Are Released By Area School Board

Reports relative to a new high school for the Warren area were submitted by two architect firms at the regular meeting of the Warren Area Joint School committee, Monday evening. The firms of Lawrie and Green of Harrisburg, and Meyers, Krider, Werle, and Ellenberger of Erie listed the costs of building on various available sites and the cost of remodeling, with the obvious result that a new building on the Swick site would be the most advantageous.

The figures are not actual because there are no plans ready for consideration, but they offer a study in comparative costs. These, too, are misleading unless all aspects are taken into consideration.

The reports are no more than slightly dressed over versions of reports which the school board has had in its possession for many months. The purpose of the reports was to help decide whether to remodel or build a new school. Many of the sites considered at the time the architects made their study now are not seriously considered by most people. The present site, the Swick property, and Memorial field, are the three chief prospects.

The difference between building a new school and remodeling the old one ranges from $300,000 to $500,000. Lawrie and Green place the price of remodeling and adding to the old building at $1,789,700. But this figure does not include the cost of buying adjacent land.

The Erie firm estimates the cost of remodeling and adding on to be $1,873,800, and it includes a cost of $165,000 for the purchase of adjacent land.

Lawrie and Green estimate the Swick site cost would be $2,306,000. This does not include the cost of the land. Lawrie and Green diplomatically suggest that any of the sites can be used.

The Erie firm places the Swick site cost at $2,121,150, and this price includes $8,000 for the purchase of 25 acres of land.

The Erie firm very thoroughly discusses the advantages and disadvantages of each. It says the present site is too small and that there is no economical way to enlarge it. The school would occupy most of the site and would thereby eliminate any other use of the land. The Erie architects say the saving in construction costs resulting from use of the old building does not justify the disadvantages of this scheme. And the sale of the present site would further reduce the cost of building a new school on a new site.

A parking and traffic problem would be created and a school would have to be provided for the pupils while the remodeling was underway.

The Erie firm also does not recommend the Memorial field site because it is too small, the railroad is too close, creating noise and dirt, the industrial area is a poor environment, and the low elevation would be subject to floods.

The Swick site, says Werle and associates, is superior to any of the other sites. It fairly lists the problems it provides, but all of them have been discussed here before and we are well aware that they can be overcome.

Werle thoroughly discussed the condition of the present building, revealing the bad condition of its floors, wiring, plumbing, and the limited scope of its air conditioning which would have to be replaced if the building were enlarged. We gather from the report that nothing is of much value here except the walls and they will not blend in with a new addition.

The Lawrie and Green proposal frightens us. It would do little more than put linoleum on the old floors, cover the old ceilings, install new wiring and fixtures, modernize the heating and ventilating, and paint the building. It also would remove the third floor, but says in another portion that a three-story building is necessary at this site.

The Harrisburg firm also has some errors concerning site locations. It says the present site is within a mile and a half of every part of Warren. (Glade from Park st. east is over a mile and a half.) It says the Swick site is remote from the borough, yet at the same time says it is within a mile and a half of seventy percent of the homes.

Actually, two miles is the transportation limit from secondary schools, and all of the sites are well within that range, with very few exceptions. And we do have bus service.

Lawrie and Green also say many properties must be bought near the present school and that three acres would result. Yet it says there is no problem at this site except the size. Is parking not a problem? Does Warren have a traffic problem?

And it says there is no flood trouble at the present site. We have some pictures these boys should scan. The middle of that block has seen some wet times and the last one lifted the gym floor to the ceiling.

The reports will require much more study in fairness to all concerned. This we will do. Perhaps we may print them verbatim for your benefit. As it stands today you know only what editors and commentators choose to tell you and how they interpret the reports.

The joint school committee completed its meeting by appointing a new special committee to study the latest developments on the new school and to report at the next meeting. It consists of Wallace

It was reported at the meeting that Harrisburg officials have verbally told Warren to proceed with plans for its new school. This means the preparation of more specific plans and the choice of a site, both of which must be approved. Remodeling is not involved unless a new application is filed. Warren has asked only for the right to build a new school.

Obviously the next question to decide definitely is where to build it.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

We Can Have New School For $57,857.14 A Year

Let's talk about money! The money it would cost us to pay for a new Warren area high school, if its price were two and a half million dollars.

To arrive at these figures we have contacted some of the nation's leading financiers. We also have included bond houses who are sufficiently large to have their own municipal authority department and are willing to invest in Warren bonds. In fact, already have done so.

To be very safe we have figured the interest at four per cent. This is more than we probably will pay. Most authorities say they believe it may run as low as 3 1/2 per cent.

We believe the individual is most interested in what the school will cost him. These figures will reveal that the payments on a 2 1/2 million dollar school would cost him about four mills a year.

He also will want to know how much he will save if we remodel the old school. The architects place the saving at figures that vary from three to four hundred thousand dollars. This means about one mill a year to you.

If you are the average taxpayer in Warren a new high school will cost you about $16 a year. A remodeled one will cost you about $12. For $4 a year you can have the economical and practical advantages of a new high school.

We doubt if the new school on this basis will cost you any additional millage at all. We will have paid off the Jefferson bonds before we start paying for the high school. And you will see that the annual payments for the Jefferson school are about the same as Warren residents will have to pay for the high school.

This suggests that as far as payments on the actual cost of the school, Warren millage will not change.

We want to emphasize that when we say this, the cost of constructing the school is our sole concern, and we are accepting the school board's figure of $2 1/2 million.

Where the double talk can develop is that future education costs no doubt will go up. If we have more pupils we will need more teachers. We also will have other related costs on a per pupil basis. And teacher salaries will increase.

But these costs will be with us whether or not we build a new school. In fact they will be greater if we remodel because we still will have an old building and its costs are bound to be greater than a new one.

We actually can save money in the long run by paying the relatively small cost of a new modern school constructed in a way and on a site that will allow for the natural expansion which probably will occur.

DOLLAR FACTS

To be completely fair about this we will give you the figures which were provided the Warren Area Joint committee at its Monday meeting. These figures were presented by Superintendent Carl Whipple, and we assure you that they are very accurate if leading bond houses know their business.

The annual payment would be $157,068. The total reimbursement received from the state to help reduce this annual cost would be about $66,535.03.

This leaves an actual net cost each year of $90,532.97.

BY DISTRICTS

What will this cost each district? Warren would pay $93,295.09 a year, and would receive $35,437.95 from the state, leaving Warren with an annual net cost of $57,857.14. That is $3.95 for every $1,000 worth of assessed valuation.

Not very much personal cost for a new, modern school?

Conewango twp. would pay $21,480.77, less a reimbursement of

The cost of this investment in more comfortable, gracious living? A surprisingly low figure that becomes still less, when you take into account the true dollar-value of a happier, healthier home. Ask us for complete details.

$10,769.36, for a net annual cost of $10,711.41.

Glade twp. would pay $11,093.08, less $4,851.75, for a net annual cost of $6,241.33.

Mead twp., $9,886.96 annual payment, less reimbursement of $5,333.29, for a net payment of $4,553.67.

Pleasant twp., $9,174.19, less a $4,474.15 reimbursement for a net annual payment of $4,700.04.

Clarendon, $6,015.39 annual share, less $2,368.70 reimbursement for an actual payment of $3,646.69.

Kinzua, $3,361.57 annual share, less $1,575 for an actual payment of $1,786.57.

Elk twp., $1,811.47, less a $1,021.14 reimbursement for an annual $790.33 payment.

Watson twp., $949.48 annual share, less $703.69, for an annual payment of $245.79.

MAYBE NO INCREASE

What will this cost Warren? We now are paying about $56,000 a year on the Jefferson st. school bonds. These will be paid off in about two years. According to these leading municipal bond authorities whom we have quoted, Warren's annual payment on the new high school, if that school costs $2 1/2 million, will be $57,857.14.

That looks to us as though we could have a $2 1/2 million dollar new school for no more taxes than we are paying now.

And the fact is we believe it would be less. Our reason for such a deduction is that we don't believe Warren will pay four per cent interest. We are confident we can obtain financing for about 3 1/2 per cent, depending on financial conditions at the time of issue. That would mean an annual saving of about $10,000.

A close analysis of these figures convincingly proves that the economical way to handle our growing student population is to provide a school with a future, a new and modern school, built on a site that will allow expansion. And with no increase in taxes for construction costs.

It was her ten-week old companion who whined and brought the searchers to the discovery of Janie, huddled in a clump of bushes on a rocky hill a half-mile from her home.

AN HOUR AFTER fire broke out at the United Refining Co. early Friday morning, firemen and company workers were still pouring streams of foamite on the last flaming tank. The fire started at 12:45 a.m. and was completely out by 2:30.

STILL UNDETERMINED. The cause and amount of damage caused in a fire that followed an explosion early Friday morning at the United Refining company's main plant is still undetermined, according to officials.

The blaze caused damage to the tankage and piping in the rundown tank area, but only a relatively small amount of semi-finished products was lost.

At the right of this picture you can see twisted piping and in the center is one of the exploded tanks. The arrow shows a tank that was lifted over the tops of the standing tanks to a new location some 200 feet away.

POOR LIBRARY RATING

More money is available to Pennsylvania rural areas for library service if officials will take advantage of it. The library service in Pennsylvania is rated as very poor among authorities on the subject, which is understandable when you see public officials, such as the Warren county commissioners, ignore the people's wishes in respect to improvements. At the same time you see existing boards make no effort to obtain the tax dollars available to their poor budgets, and often very willingly offered by such groups as the Warren borough council and the state legislature.

This tied in with the subjects discussed at the Pennsylvania Library Association convention in Pittsburgh, attended by Mrs. Georgia S. Coyle, Warren librarian, Miss Anne Lesser, Warren children's librarian, and Mrs. Edna B. Swanson, Warren circulation librarian and secretary of the public libraries section of the state association.

It was learned that the federal government now has made additional money available to rural libraries in Pennsylvania. Despite this, Pennsylvania, unlike some alert states, has no plan for accepting the money. At the present time there is $40,000 available which the state can have for budgeting in 1957, or what is left of the fiscal year. This is a test amount. If the state and local library groups match the money, it will be increased to a maximum of $342,000 a year.

It seems local groups must take it upon themselves to develop programs, such as the proposed Warren county library service which commissioners have turned down. The state already is prepared to pay Warren county up to $4,000 a year for such a service. If we get this right, the federal government will match that with another $4,000 if the state wakes up and prepares a plan for accepting the offer.

The major hold-up has been the lack of a state librarian. We understand one will be appointed within the next two weeks. The federal money must come through the state library.

A new standard for Pennsylvania libraries is slated for consideration by the Association and it is hoped that efforts of the federal and state governments, and the state library, to give help to local libraries will be met with greater cooperation all along the line.

The state provides annual funds for county service, the state library has books to lend for augmenting the local supply, and now the federal government is offering more money if it is matched. Meanwhile, we see libraries lamenting the lack of funds, and entire areas asking officials for services which are refused. Some one needs to get together with someone in this business if Pennsylvania is not to fall even further behind in the reading field.

YOU SHOULD READ

A couple of articles that you should find intriguing appear in the Saturday Review and the Readers Digest. The Saturday Review issue of October 6 has a special science report on Food and Cancer. It discusses what it calls the suspicious chemicals in your market basket.

It points out that a rapidly growing number and variety of non-nutritive substances have been introduced into foodstuffs in recent years because of modern production methods. Some of them are not even assimilated by the food but remain as residues.

Unfortunately some of these substances are similar to or identical with chemicals that are known to have cancer-provoking properties. And to make it worse we have no assurance that they have been thoroughly tested for safety. In fact, the article says they probably have not.

The articles, for there is a group of them, sum up the situation by admitting that there may be no chemicals in American food that are definitely known to cause cancer, but it is wise to take precautionary steps. It advises housewives to keep an eye on oranges with color added, sweet potatoes the buyer does not personally know are free of skin coloring, canned vegetables that might have coloring (frozen have no added colorings), margarine colored by anything other than carotene which is a harmless natural substance, and any parts of the necks of chickens, because they are the site of growth pellets which poultry growers use to speed the maturation of chickens.

The Readers Digest article should be of interest to all suffering taxpayers. It reveals how one fair sized city reduced police and fire protection costs by combining the departments. This, of course, won't set with politicians and established members of the higher echelons, but the article makes much good sense.

It does not advise the step for large cities, but claims it works very nicely in the range of population which would include Warren. Men are trained in both police work and fire fighting. All cruising cars are equipped with chemicals. With a man at the wheel of a radio car in every section of the town, most fires are nipped before the trucks arrive.

There are specialists, of course, but most of the men are ready to do any police or fire job that is required. And instead of firemen

FATALLY INJURED in a one-car accident at the intersection of Conewango and Fifth avenues at 1:30 a.m. Sunday was 23-year-old Beverly Rose Richards, of Garland. She was a passenger in a car operated by Charles Joseph Takats, 21, Pittsfield, who suffered multiple lacerations of the face, nose, and right arm, a chest injury and contusion of the leg.

Takats' car, proceeding south on Conewango, went out of control at the intersection, crossed over to the wrong side of the roadway and onto the curb before hitting headon into a tree. Neither person was thrown from the car.

It was determined by officials that the driver had been traveling at too fast a rate of speed and lost control on the wet pavement.

The south side of the intersection was barricaded at the time and it is said the warning lamps were not lit when the accident occurred. They apparently were put out by the storm that night. The yellow blinker was working.

The tree struck by the auto was 65 feet from the intersection.

MORE PARKING. With Nelson and Ellberg's purchase of the "island" property from the Phenix Furniture Co., Warren may have a new parking area. A firm official stated that for the present the lower Liberty st. property and building will be rented for storage space.

Later it is expected the building will be razed and the remains of the old mill stream filled in to provide off-street parking. No other possible future plans for the property were revealed.

TWO CHARGES were placed against a Wilcox man after he missed a curve at the north end of the Glade Bridge and piled into a supporting pole of the PRR flasher signals at 1:56 a.m. Sunday. Arrested Monday by police and railroad officers was James Nelson Irwin, 23, R.D., Wilcox. He was charged for leaving the scene of an accident and driving too fast for conditions.

Damage to both car and blinker was estimated at $450.

Another accident occurred at 7:43 Sunday evening when Arthur J. O'Connor, 18 Conewango ave., Warren, struck a car operated by Fred Salvamoser, Wilcox, at the intersection of Market st. and Fifth ave. The Wilcox man was making a left turn in front of O'Connor at the time.

Each car was said to have received $100 damage.

FATAL ACCIDENT. A 20-year-old Jamestown, N.Y., man was killed instantly at 3:20 a.m. Saturday when the car which he was driving missed a curve three miles north of Warren on Route 62. Victim of the crash was Roger M. Johnson.

The auto sailed through the guard rails at the high board fence, struck a telephone pole and went over the bank near the Conewango Creek.

Injured by the accident were three passengers, Dorothy Pillar, 23, and Jean Saunders, 22, both of Jamestown, and Ray Jacobson, 22, Niobe, N.Y., all suffered lacerations and bruises about the body.

Damage to the car was said to be $2500.

"RED FEATHER". Warren's Red Feather Community Chest Campaign for $66,500 officially opens at 5:30 Monday evening with a kick-off dinner in Beaty cafeteria. Byron W. Knapp, vice president of the Chest organization, will be the keynote speaker.

All volunteer workers in the Chest campaign are invited to attend the free dinner Monday and are urged to do so by making reservations either with their captain or at campaign headquarters, phone 6649.

General chairman, Marion Pettegrew, has announced the dinner is being paid for by a small group of civic minded persons and business firms and does not come out of press funds.

This week 49 local industrial and business firms are cooperating with the campaign by conducting employee solicitation in their plants either individually or through a consolidated welfare fund.

The Industrial division goal is approximately one-half of the total campaign.

CHECK DELIVERED. A check for the improvement of the Probation System for juveniles was delivered to the Warren County Commissioners by E. C. Rasmussen, treasurer of the Warren County Probation Association, Wednesday morning. The check represented six months income from the Permanent Endowment fund of the association.

There is now $10,000 in the endowment fund which has been obtained by public solicitation made by members of the sponsoring Warren Rotary Club.

The purpose of the non-profit probation association is to improve the probation system for boys and girls in Warren County.

SCOUTERS of the Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, began final preparations this week for their first coordinated campaign during the week of October 15 to 22.

Workers will cooperate with the Community Chest in areas covered by the Warren and Corry Chests and in non-Chest areas of the county they will campaign independently. In connection with the campaign the scouters will distribute a special edition of the Observer (council bulletin) door to door in the county.

Many communities are planning one-night campaigns and in these locales residents are asked to turn on their porch lights to enable solicitors to find their way.

October 23 has been set as the report day.

TUNEFUL WEEKEND

After an advance cacophony of drum-beating that had us all deafened there for awhile, NBC unfurled its new Walter Winchell show Friday night (NBC-TV 8:30 p. m. EDT), all half hour of it. No, the screen didn't get any wider - after all that hullabaloo I expected Cinemascope - and the show itself was surprisingly intimate like a supper club.

Walter Winchell is a great big ham, as I guess everyone now knows, and with Ed Sullivan causing all that commotion on CBS by pointing at actors, Winchell was bound to get into the act and point at a few himself. However, with no budget to speak of, he may have trouble finding actors to point at. On his opening show, Martha Raye was there and pinched his cheeks. Ernie Kovacs puffed his cigar and inquired: "Who's out front watching the country?" - a funny line. Sammy Davis showed up, said hello and took off for his show immediately thereafter.

*** Among the artists who did a little performing was Perry Como who sang appropriately "Lullaby of Broadway" which could very well be the theme song of this show. At any rate, Mr. Winchell told of the triumphs of several youngsters over Broadway's tough hurdles, Lola Fisher, a second string understudy who sang the role of Eliza in "My Fair Lady" one night and Michael Gazzo, an ex-shoeshine boy who wrote the Broadway hit "A Hatful Of Rain."

Miss Fisher then sang "I Could Have Danced All Night" and Mr. Gazzo displayed a tough and sexy scene from his forthcoming play called "All That Jazz". I guess that will be the pattern: a Broadway tale of some sort and then the hero or heroine of it there to perform. That's not a bad format for a half hour show, but if Winchell can get the Friday night ratings off the ground, he's a wonder. Jimmy Durante could never manage it in radio and no one has ever seriously attempted it in television.

It was certainly a weekend of song, all right. Directly following the Winchell show, was the Dinah Shore show, a full hour of it from the west coast. This was a gay, unpretentious and thoroughly charming romp with Frank Sinatra and Miss Shore singing and spoofing through most of it. In fact, if my memory is at all accurate, Miss Shore wasn't off stage during the whole hour except for the commercials and she was in a couple of those. It was quite a tour de force. She and Sinatra teamed up on a "Tea For Two" duet, showing how a couple of old pros extract the most out of a song and a routine.

*** NBC seems to be going in heavily for charm combined with song lately -- Como and Shore being the two principal entrants in this field. Well, it wears well, all right, but it is going to be increasingly hard to write about and I think after awhile even to watch without one's attention straying. I felt this particularly strongly about CBS's ninety minute salute to Cole Porter Saturday night.

wonderful songs to choose from and they chose a lot of good ones and, lamentably, left out a lot of good ones. With Shirley Jones, Gordon MacRae, Peter Lind Hayes, Mary Healy, Dorothy Dandridge and Dolores Gray on stage, the songs were generally well sung in elegant - as befits Mr. Porter - settings. Just listening to Mr. Porter's delectable lyrics and complex rhythms was pleasure enough. What was missing was some reason for all this expensive production being on an hour and a half network show. A collection of songs - no matter how good the songs - is still not really a show. Leonard Bernstein in his perfectly wonderful history of musical comedy in this country on "Omnibus" the same night pointed out that even revue, which had no story line, had some unifying theme - a locale or point of view or something - to hold it together.

*** Musical comedy has a plot, and a song that arises out of plot has twelvefold the impact of a song that is simply sung for no reason. That you can get on a phonograph.

The Cole Porter extravaganza was a good show, well staged but basically meaningless. Sometimes a single personality or a pair of personalities are unifying force enough as Mary Martin and Ethel Merman demonstrated in the Ford show. But there has to be something.

WOULD IT BE POLITICS when a state a month before election can so readily find $50,000 to re-surface a town's streets which got a bit wet during recent wet summer days, but must have twenty years of records before it can approve help for people along streams which have caused obvious damage on numerous occasions? And in the same town? Warren, Pa.!

HOWEVER, we are not blaming the failure to correct the Indian Run and Glade Run situation on either party. We haven't had much luck no matter who has been in Harrisburg.

WHO KILLED the education bill? Sometimes we wonder if our elected officials bother to read the record, let alone the papers.

We looked it up. The aid to education was defeated in the House, 224 to 194. The Democrats provided 119 votes for it and 105, against it. The Republicans voted 119 against it and 75 for it.

That is the record.
The GOP members voted overwhelmingly for an amendment that made such money unavailable to states which did not allow integration. Then they voted the bill itself down.

THE AMBULANCE service in North Warren is effected in a different way than we reported last week. We said you call the hospital which calls a North Warren number, where the party calls the volunteer who goes with the ambulance. As we now understand it, you call the hospital, which calls the driver, who calls his assistant.

We have no quarrel with North Warren. We just happen to believe that Warren can afford the best ambulance service and that it should not be depending on its neighbors for such emergency help. And even if the North Warren boys were paid and on duty every minute it would not be as ideal as having our own ambulance situated in a central location, preferably at the hospital.

FIRST COURT PICTURE? The Swartz trial pictures in the Warren Observer and the Times Mirror are being heralded as the first of their kind to be allowed in a Pennsylvania court room.

Not so! This reporter took court pictures in the local court room about sixteen years ago. We still own one of the engravings. And without tri-x or double-x we did it without flash in the old court room before it was remodeled and "lightened".

The Rambler rolls forth with little basic change in its looks on October 25, boasting a 190 h.p. engine and the economy champ six with 125 h.p.

The big change we know will be in the Chrysler line which pops forth about October 30, lower, longer in the wheel base but shorter in the body, a new ride, and much added glass for greater vision.

ACCREDITED SCHOOLS.

A couple of weeks ago this column carried a release of the Federal Trade Commission in which advice was given concerning correspondence schools, some of which are making promises which they can not keep, and many of which are not what they pretend to be. This leaves the average citizen a bit up in the air concerning this type of training. If he is interested in more learning, and it is not available in his own community, he wonders what school can be trusted.

Because of this the state and national groups have formed commissions which have studied the schools available and have set up rigid requirements as a measuring stick. Those that meet these requirements are placed on the accredited list.

To receive accreditation, schools must meet the following standards:

Competent faculty, educationally sound and up-to-date courses, only qualified students admitted, satisfactory educational services, proof of student success and satisfaction, reasonable tuition, truthful advertising, and financially able to deliver high quality educational service. The National Homes Study Council provides the following list of accredited schools, and advises you to see the Home Study Blue Book at your public library or at your high school principal's office or your guidance counselor's office for further information. Here is the list:

EDUCATIONAL HELPS

In this day of highly trained personnel for the advanced techniques required in many plants, education is becoming increasingly important. With more time for home study, and with college attendance very costly, means of learning either at home or in one's own community are imperative. It is for this reason that we constantly advocate the full consideration of local adult needs when we plan a new high school.

In some cities the first two years of college, or a share of the subjects one studies in those two years, are being made available by way of a community college. Such is the case in Jamestown. Perhaps we can't go quite that far in Warren but certainly we can build our school to meet the needs of Warren industry, and we could have an evening school program that would encourage participation.

Twelve leading engineers of the Jamestown area comprise one of three which have been set up by the college board for the purpose of forming a closer liaison between the college classroom and business. Though in the case of Jamestown the results will provide students with credits for continuing their studies in other colleges, a similar arrangement could be provided for a high school.

Such a step is at least two-fold. It would help young people to see what industry needs and thus prepare themselves either to train for direct employment after graduation or for more education as a complete preparation for employment. And it would help industry find the boys and girls most capable of filling the jobs that are and will be open. Shortages in various lines might be eliminated. As for night school, very often the subject you might enjoy studying lacks enough signers to make it available in Warren. For this reason we are intrigued by the wide variety made available in the Jamestown school. There are twenty-five of them, including biology, business English, business law, drama appreciation, accounting, arts and history appreciation, astronomy, automation, English literature, Old Testament literature, home building, public speaking, philosophy, home decoration, salesmanship, journalism, radio broadcasting, and many others.

OTHER EDUCATIONAL HELP

Another field of education, involving the preparation of people for service in our society, is the State Bureau of Rehabilitation program, which is interested in all handicapped persons who are sixteen years of age or older if they can be made employable. Last year its state bureau helped place

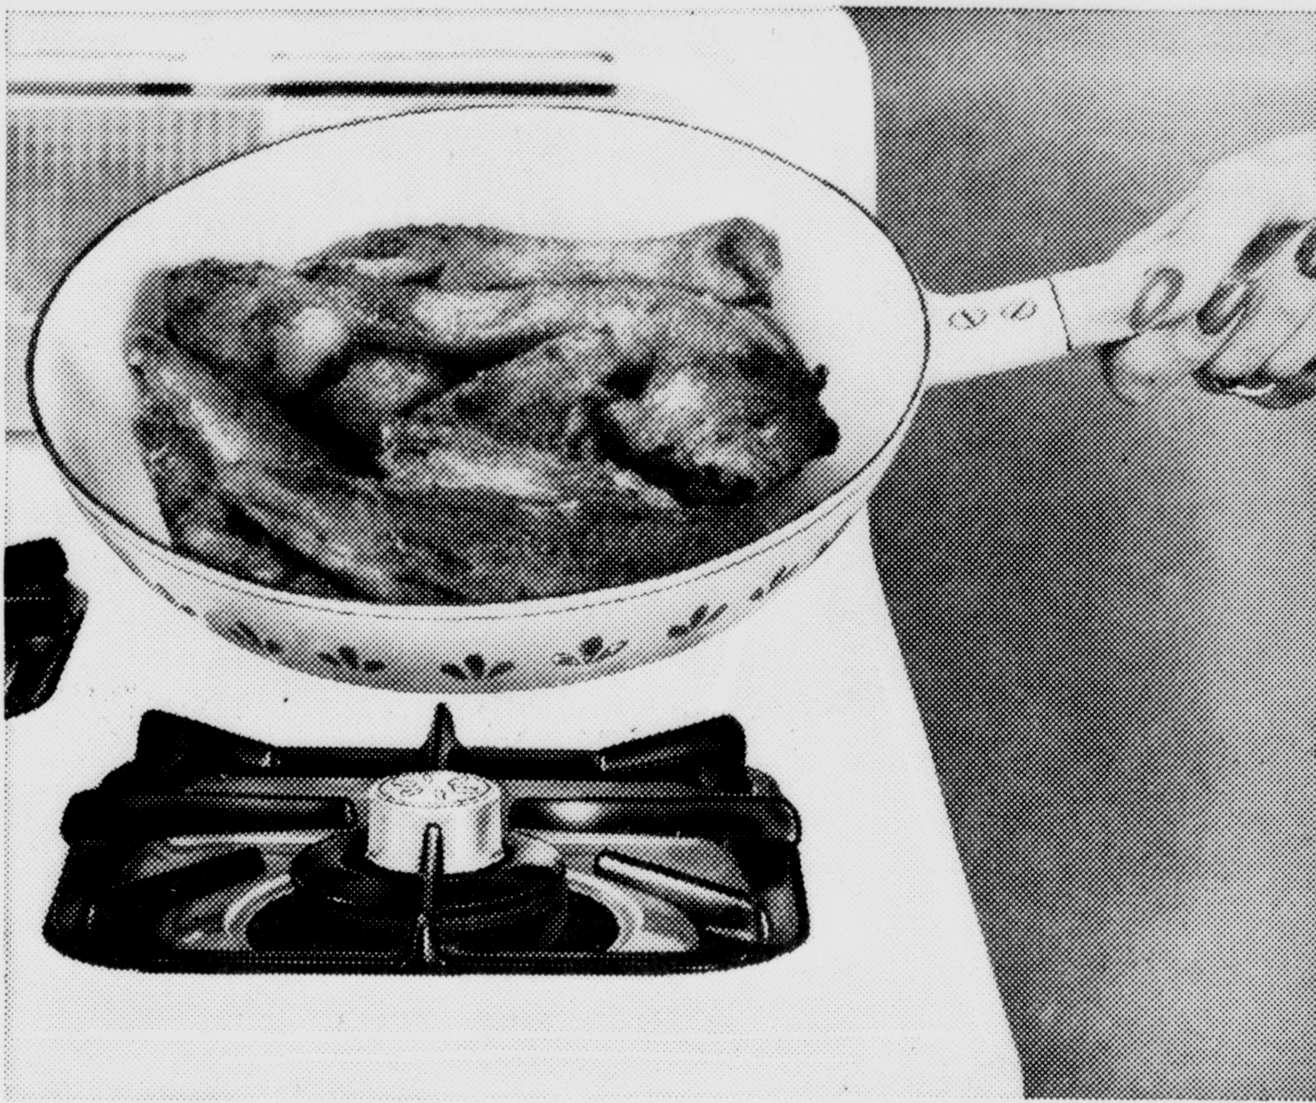

4,200 such people in employment. Because very few jobs require all of an individual's physical capacities, handicapped persons are able to find a spot in most lines of work. They can do this without asking for special privileges, and ask only that employers give them a chance to prove their worth.

This program is not a costly one for the taxpayer. Actually, the program is self supporting, because it is figured that the average handicapped person who is trained and given a job pays the cost of his training back in income taxes within seven years. Not only is he no longer a dependent on the state or on some one else, but he is earning his own way and paying off the costs in his own taxes.

Joe Benson, chairman of the local committee for National Employ the Physically Handicapped week, which ends Saturday, asks all county employers to help by giving these people an opportunity to earn a living.

SCHOLARSHIP

This probably is the ideal spot to mention that the annual Betty Crocker scholarship enrollment time is coming up. The deadline for senior high school girls to enroll is October 31. A written home examination is on December 4. State winners receive $1,500 scholarships, and state runners-up receive $500 scholarship. And it reads $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000 for the next three.

Senior Chamber Wants Multi-Purpose Armory

A resolution asking the Federal Government to build a new multi-purpose Armory in this community was passed at a meeting of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce this week. The group feels that the present Armory in use by the National Guard here is inadequate and a three-man committee was appointed to formulate plans for government action.

This committee consists of Leroy Schneck, a member in the Army Reserve, chairman; William R. Walker, commander of the Chief Cornplanter Post, American Legion; and James Torrance, a member of the official Armory Board.

Discussion by the C of C board revealed that the present Armory building was built in 1913 and is antiquated and too small for the local National Guard unit. Mr. Schneck and Mr. Torrance also pointed out that it would be advantageous for a new Armory to be built as a multi-purpose center where all branches of the Armed Forces might be quartered.

Multi-purpose armories are being constructed throughout the country and are desirable in view of the increasing importance of reserve units in the government's defense plan.

The senior chamber board felt a new and larger site with sufficient land available should be considered in this matter.

Clifford Johnson, transportation committee chairman, told the board the executive committee of the Save GUTTED PUMP HOUSE. The United Refining Co. pump house was gutted in the Friday morning fire.

The Warren Fire Dept. responded to the call with four pieces of equipment and, assisted by men and equipment from the Clarendon and Youngsville Volunteer companies and refinery employees, had the fire under control within an hour and completely out by 2:30.

No one sustained personal injury in the occurrence.

Route 6 committee is flying to Washington today for a conference with the U. S. Bureau of Roads. The committee chairman, Harry Garvin, and attorney Murray Garber were in Warren Wednesday evening to speak to service club members on the fight to keep Route 6 on the Federal Interstate System of Highways.

Attempts today to gain an appointment with Governor Leader have been unsuccessful.

Plans for the annual banquet on February 5 at the Beaty cafeteria are progressing rapidly according to Chairman Robert Anstadt. A prominent speaker has been engaged for the occasion.

How Much Will It Cost You?

A new high school will cost you $3.95 for every thousand dollars your property is assessed. If your home is assessed at $2,000, your annual cost will be two times $3.95 or $7.90.

If your assessed valuation is $3,000, it will be three times $3.95, or $11.85 a year. If it is $4,000 it will be four times $3.95 or $15.80 per year.

If a remodeled school, using the old relic we now are occupying, is attempted, the saving will be only about one-fifth. You will save less than a dollar on each thousand of your assessed valuation and your children will be going to a fire-trap that will be outmoded before the bond issue is paid.

We must provide school space for the young people. Will a new school be worth an additional one, two, three, or four dollars per year to build the best?

The fact is that a remodeled school might cost you more than a new one. The state will subtract the value of the old property from the maximum sum it will contribute and the resultant formula for arriving at payments might end up with a higher annual cost than in the case of a new school.

In 1890, men in business offices outnumbered women by 8 to 1 in clerical jobs; today, women outnumber men by 3 to 1, except in government offices, where men still dominate.
